Wednesday Nights

Wednesday Nights here at Otter Creek are going to be a time of growth and fellowship.

What is Conversations?

Conversations is going to be a place where we start to process thought some of the hard topics and questions of our day. My hope is to each week bring in a panel of people who can speak truth and wisdom about some of things that often rumble inside each of us. We will also have deserts, coffee, and drinks for free each week! So this would be a great place to bring a friend, neighbor, coworker, ect.

I want to also make it clear that we do not hope to "solve" or "answer" every question one might have about the given topic of the night. Instead my hope is that you leave each night ready to ask even more questions and feel encourage that there are people in this community you can go to and ask questions about some of these heavy issues.

This is a pic of trees having conversations about all the wonderful things they have seen..they are so wise..so..wise.

Topics

Some of the topics we will be talking about in the future are "Doubt", "Sexuality", "Science and Faith", "Politics", and "Success and Christianity". My hope is that during our time together on Wednesday nights new topics will arise and then I will go out and find a panel of people to come and speak wisdom into our lives.

On a side note, I want each of you to know that I am here for you and if you ever need to talk to me or have me pray over you or be in prayer about something going on in your life I would love the chance to do that for you. I am honored that God has placed me in this community and I'm so excited about what he has in store for all of us as we continue to move forward.

May the Love of God continually interrupt your day,

Patrick Chappell
